New tenant at Linden Place?
Nope, just a bit of excitement here when the police showed up with their rifles and tranquilizer equipment to capture a furry friend! Thankfully they were able to safely capture and release the young bear!

“Beautiful day for a walk with my sister!”

Summer Entertainment!
Dave & Janie Thiessen and their good friend Diane Nwaefulu (nee Reimer), we had lots of fun singing some favourite hymns with everyone!

From the Chaplain's Desk

Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly, teaching and admonishing one another in all wisdom, singing psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, with thankfulness in your hearts to God. Col 3:16.

Gathering to study the Word of God in Bible study groups has always been part of church practice. It has its roots in Jesus' ministry here on earth, as he gathered a small group of twelve around him to teach them and discuss with them the matters of faith (Luke 6:12-16). They learned by the teachings of Jesus and by applying it to their lives right away.

Christianity is meant to be relational between ourselves and God and those around us. In Bible study groups, we can encounter God's word together, share our different perspectives and broaden our insights because of interaction. We don't run the risk of misinterpreting and reading things into the Bible that the word doesn't say. Application and accountability bring not only understanding but also move God's Word from our intellect to the heart. We are being transformed (Romans 12:2), and as our lives change, the lives of those around us change as well.

Relationships are built as we invest time and interest in those who are meeting with us on a regular basis. Hebrews 10:24-25 says we should "consider how to stir up one another to love and good works, not neglecting to meet together, as is the habit of some, but encouraging one another, and all the more as you see the Day drawing near." Reading the Word together and encouraging and upholding one another, as it is practiced in our churches, is community building at its best.

God designed us to need Him and each other. His word to us is to reach out and love one another. Colossians 3:16 says we should allow the message of Christ dwell in us richly and teach one another with wisdom. What better place for that than in a Bible study group.

I want to take this opportunity to encourage our residents to join in September one of our in-house bible study groups. While it is already a habit for several residents to meet regularly at Linden Place, I am excited to announce that we will start a Bible study at Fernwood as well. We are planning to meet once a week in the Multi-Purpose Room. More information is to come in the following weeks.
