From the Chaplain's Desk

Oh give thanks to the LORD; call upon his name; make known his deeds among the peoples! Sing to him, sing praises to him; tell of all his wondrous works! (1 Chronicles 16:8-9 ESV)

Being thankful is a witness to what God is doing in our lives. In his psalms, King David wanted to witness the greatness of God. When the ark of the covenant was brought to Jerusalem David wanted everyone to join in the celebration. We find one of his praise psalms embedded in this story in 1 Chronicles 16.

This long and rich psalm encourages us to praise God for a variety of things, such as God's wonderful acts (vv.9,10); God remembers his covenant forever (v.15); God's protection when his people are most vulnerable (vv.19-20), and the majesty and strength in God's dwelling place (v.27).

Nations are invited to give to the Lord what he deserves, namely recognition of his glory and worship and praise. Even the heavens and all of nature are invited to rejoice and tremble before the holy God.

What I find most impressive is that "David blessed the people in the name of the LORD. Then he gave to every man and woman in all Israel a loaf of bread, a cake of dates, and a cake of raisins" (1 Chron 15:2-3). He invited the whole congregation to gather around tables and celebrate the greatness of God. Celebrating the Lord and eating in fellowship has been the theme throughout the Bible. In Psalm 23, David says, "You prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies". Jews still celebrate the Passover feast as a remembrance of their deliverance from Egypt.

Our Lord Jesus Christ, in the night when he was betrayed, transformed the Passover feast to what we know as communion, a gathering around the Lord's table. Jesus took a loaf of bread and after he had given thanks he broke it, and said, "This is my body, which is for you. Do this in remembrance of me"²⁵ In the same way also he took the cup, after supper, saying, "This cup is the new covenant in my blood. Do this, as often as you drink it, in remembrance of me." (1 Cor.14:24-25).

As we prepare for this year's Thanksgiving celebration, I want to invite you to gather around the communion table to a celebration of remembrance, thanksgiving, and praise on October 11.

Why You Need Tenant's Insurance

Why do tenants need tenant insurance?

Landlords have insurance on their buildings that only covers the building itself – walls, doors, floors, landlord supplied appliances, etc. Your landlord's insurance does not cover your personal belongings. This means you should buy tenant insurance to cover your belongings (furniture, electronics, clothes, etc.) against fire, theft, smoke, water damage, vandalism and other similar acts.

Also, if you or your guests cause damage to your apartment or the complex (walls, floors, windows, appliances, etc.) you may be legally required to pay for the cost to repair the damage. For example, if you forget to shut off your stove and accidentally cause a fire which damages your unit or the complex, you may have to pay to fix the damage. Tenant insurance will help cover the cost of this kind of accident.

Another reason that tenant insurance is so important is coverage for additional living expenses. Should you be displaced from your apartment because of damage to your apartment or building, this insurance can cover extra costs if you have to stay in a hotel or another apartment during the repairs. The landlord is not required to find alternate housing for you in these situations.

What kind of tenant insurance should I get?

There are two standard kinds of tenant insurance that tenants are encouraged to get – liability and personal property.

- Liability insurance protects you if someone claims that you caused damage to their property or injury to them (it doesn't cover intentional acts).
 - Personal property insurance covers costs to replace or repair your lost or damaged belongings.
- Should you have questions related to coverage, contact the insurance company of your choice to discuss.
