From the Chaplain's Desk

"He who guards his mouth and tongue keeps his soul from tribulations."

Proverbs 21:22

With the dawn of the New Year comes resolutions for us all. Whether we actively make them or not, we all have things we'd like to do, change, accomplish, become, and the break between calendar years provides us with a natural starting point to do those things. As Christians, our whole life is a process of growth. After our spiritual birth, we must grow up in the faith. That means the continual process (aided and empowered by the Holy Spirit) of killing off our sinful passions and replacing them with the virtues of Christ, the fruit of the Spirit. There are perhaps few better starting points in that journey than learning how to control what we say.

Trying to get rash, foolish, or judgemental words back into our mouths after we say them is like trying to get toothpaste back into the tube. Once they're out, they're out! And they can do serious damage. At the root of all intemperate speaking is the passion known as pride. We want the world to hear what we think. The trouble is that what we think, tempered as it is by our sin, is often not uplifting, loving, and gracious, but judgemental, gossipy, or angry. These are all born of pride. But because the two are connected, and the Bible diagnoses this connection for us, we're gifted with this wonderful spiritual tool for killing pride: Don't talk so much! What we find when we stop talking too much is that pride becomes no fun. It's no fun judging others if you can't talk about it, so that passion begins to die within us. Let's make 2024 the year we ask Christ, daily, to "set a guard over my lips!" (Ps. 141:3).
